Statutes

18 Pa.C.S. §913	16
53 P.S. §16581	1

I. Harrisburg’s gun ban in parks pre-dates the UFA:

Amici argue—as Plaintiffs did before the trial court—that Harrisburg enacted these ordinances after the passage of the Uniform Firearms Act. They are wrong. In fact, since Harrisburg filed its opening brief in this appeal on July 13th, Harrisburg has discovered that some of the ordinances at issue are even older than once thought and less extensive than their statutory counterparts, including a 1751 statutory discharge ban within all settled towns and 1873 statutory gun ban specific to Harrisburg.

Apparently, it has been illegal to discharge weapons in Harrisburg since this area was initially settled in the 1700s. In 1721, Pennsylvania banned discharge in Philadelphia. 53 P.S. §16581.¹ In 1751, Pennsylvania banned the discharge of weapons within any “built and settled” “town or borough.” 18 P.S. §462.² In 1760, Pennsylvania prohibited any person from carrying a gun on the land of another without permission.³ These provincial statutes remained in effect until repealed by the Crimes Code of 1972, as the General Assembly did not repeal them when it enacted the Penal Codes of 1860 or 1939.⁴

In 1791, the General Assembly incorporated the town of Harrisburg into a borough so that it “may contribute to the advantage of the inhabitants of the said town, as also to those who trade and resort there, and be of public utility, that nuisances, encroachments of all sorts, contentions, annoyances and inconveniences, in the said town and in its vicinity, should be prevented, and for the promoting of rule order, and the good government of said town.”⁵ In 1808, the General Assembly made clear that Harrisburg can “enact such other by-laws

In 1915, the General Assembly included the 1751 and other sections within the 1760 statute in an omnibus repealer statute, but Governor Brumbaugh vetoed the bill. and make such rules regulations and ordinances, as shall be determined... necessary, to promote the peace, good order, benefit and advantage of the said borough...”⁶

The General Assembly named Harrisburg the state capital in 1812. Although the language has underwent various changes, since at least 1821, Harrisburg has banned discharge.⁷ In 1859, the General Assembly created “Harris Park” on the riverfront, and authorized Harrisburg to “improve the said grounds for the purposes aforesaid and to make all reasonable rules and regulations for the improvement superintendence protection and management of the same.”⁸

In 1860, the General Assembly incorporated Harrisburg as a city, and, in 1873, the General Assembly banned the carrying of any deadly weapon within Harrisburg, punishable by up to three months in jail.⁹ That same year, the General Assembly adopted the Pennsylvania

Constitution of 1874 (so-named by its effective date), including the provision of the right to bear arms as it exists to this day.

It appears that the 1873 statutory gun ban in Harrisburg is still law as it was not repealed by the 1939 Penal Code or the 1972 Crimes Code.¹⁰ In fact, the statute was enforced and upheld in 1922, Com. v. Kreps, 25 Dauphin Co. 335 (1922), and Purdon’s recognized the statute as valid, noting the 1873 act under “Prior local provisions” and, under Notes of Decision, section 3, Repeal, that the 1873 act “was not repealed by” the 1875 statewide concealed carry ban and citing Kreps as authority for the 1873 act’s continuing validity. A copy of the relevant Purdon’s pages are attached as ex. 11 for this Court’s convenience.

In 1889, the General Assembly authorized all third class cities “to regulate, prevent and punish the discharge of fire-arms” and “to prevent and punish the carrying of concealed deadly weapons.”¹¹ As to parks, the General Assembly authorized third class cities “To establish and enforce suitable police regulations for the protection of persons and property at public squares, parks. Depots, depot grounds, and other places of public resort...”¹² The General Assembly also provided the general authority “To make regulations to secure the general health of the inhabitants and to remove and prevent nuisances.”¹³ These provisions were re-enacted in 1931 and 2014. See 53 Pa.C.S. §37423. The 1931 Third Class City Code further provided the Mayor discretion during declared emergencies to prohibit any activities dangerous to the public peace. 53 Pa.C.S. §36203(e)(3)(iv),(vi).

In the meantime, Harrisburg banned guns in parks by at least 1905,¹⁴ banned unsupervised children from carrying guns in 1951, gave the mayor discretion to ban the public carrying of guns during declared emergencies in 1969, and required reporting of lost and stolen guns in 2009. As mentioned, however, it appears that the General Assembly never repealed the 1873 statutory gun ban in Harrisburg. If so, then

Plaintiffs cannot possibly suffer harm by Harrisburg's lesser-included ordinances.¹⁵

II. Decisions from other contexts confirm Harrisburg's position:

Amici point to cases outside the firearm context to support their claim of field preemption. However, cases in other contexts confirm that the field is not preempted. Since Ortiz v. Com., 681 A.2d 152 (Pa. 1996), the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has thrice noted that it has found

¹⁵ Amici assert that enactment of the ordinances in question was criminal under 18 Pa.C.S. §5301 (official oppression) and §6119 (grading firearm offenses). Amici rely upon Joshua Prince's defamatory allegation that donors for Harrisburg's legal defense are criminals in an OOR appeal seeking donor identities. See Prince v. Harrisburg, Dauphin County no. 2015-4163. By Prince's faulty logic, every mother who pays her son's criminal defense attorney joins in his criminal enterprise; indeed, counsel for amici—all criminal defense attorneys—would be equally culpable with the criminal defendants they represent.

Further, §5301 only applies where an official “know[s] that his conduct is illegal” and “obviously” requires proof of “bad faith” Com. v. Eisemann, 453 A.2d 1045, 1048 (Pa. Super. 1982). Harrisburg has only adopted the reporting ordinance since any of these statutes became law, and, even in 2009, no court had ever addressed the scope of authority under the Third Class City Code vis-à-vis the UFA. In fact, the General Assembly's 1873 gun ban in Harrisburg and 1751 discharge ban in all towns made it impossible for Harrisburg to violate anyone's statutory rights when it banned discharge by at least 1821, guns in parks and playgrounds by at least 1905, unsupervised children from publicly carrying guns in 1951, and publicly carrying of guns during certain emergencies in 1969.

As to §6119, this is merely a grading provision—that predates §6120—for firearm crimes; it does not other provisions into crimes. Nothing in §6120 creates a crime for officials. In the 40 years since its passage, not one court has held or even implied that adopting a preempted ordinance is criminal. Pennsylvania has more than 2,600 municipalities, yet no judicial decision reflects a single prosecution of an official. This is no surprise as the statute does not mention officials, only government bodies. Highlighting the absurdity of amici's view on §6119, local officials would commit crimes if they misstep under one of the UFA's many procedural sections as well, not just §6120, as would judges if they improperly review firearm matters under the UFA. See 18 Pa.C.S. §6101 et seq.

field preemption “in only three areas: alcoholic beverages, anthracite strip mining, and banking.” Hoffman Min. v. Zoning Hearing Bd. of Adams Twp., 32 A.3d 587, 593 (Pa. 2011). See Nutter v. Dougherty, 938 A.2d 401, 414 (Pa. 2007); Mars Emergency Med. Servs. v. Twp. of Adams, 740 A.2d 193, 195 (Pa. 1999). The Supreme Court doubtfully forgot about Ortiz.

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has been careful not to read preemption provisions too broadly. Indian Rocks Prop. Owners Ass'n v. Glatfelter, 28 A.3d 1261, 1265 (Pa. 2011) (“Resolution of this issue requires us to interpret the breadth of the Construction Code's preemption clause...”); Huntley & Huntley v. Borough Council of Borough of Oakmont, 964 A.2d 855, 863 (Pa. 2009) (unanimous) (“[O]ur interpretive task is to examine the particular wording of this provision, together with any other relevant aspect of the statute, in order to determine whether the Legislature intended to leave room for localities to designate certain zoning districts (such as residential ones) where oil and gas wells may be prohibited as a general matter.”).

The Court has also emphasized the broad scope of municipal authority:

This Court has recognized the power of self-government conveyed to third class municipalities by the Charter Law. We will not disturb a reasonable expression of a municipal council's discretionary power unless there is an abuse of power detrimental to the citizenry.

City Council of City of Bethlehem v. Marcincin, 515 A.2d 1320, 1325-26 (Pa. 1986) (citations omitted).

Amici specifically rely upon Huntley, but that case shows the lack of preemption, especially as to the gun ban for parks and playgrounds. In Huntley, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court found that preemption of local oil and gas regulation did not prevent a municipality from regulating the location of wells. 964 A.2d at 864. In other words, the Supreme Court barred regulation of how, not where, of oil and gas wells.

Since Huntley, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court reached the same conclusion in Hoffman Mining for surface mining:

The Surface Mining Act's preemption clause expressly preempts the regulation of surface mining; however, the clause does not preempt local regulation of land use via zoning ordinances, which may affect where surface mining is located or sited. We will not infer that an express preemption clause encompasses the traditionally local concerns of land use and zoning when the General Assembly has not clearly incorporated those concerns into the clause. The residential setback provision challenged here does not constitute regulation of surface mining, as that term is defined in the Surface Mining Act. Rather, the setback provision falls clearly within the purview of traditional zoning regulations and merely regulates where surface mining can be sited relative to residential structures. Therefore, we hold that the residential setback provision in the Adams Township Zoning Ordinance is not expressly preempted by the preemption clause of the Surface Mining Act.

Hoffman Min., 32 A.3d at 600-01.

The Court noted that location concerns are local in nature:

Local authorities are charged with the responsibility of enacting zoning ordinances for the health, safety or general welfare of the community, giving “consideration to the character of the municipality, the needs of the citizens and the suitabilities and special nature of particular parts of the municipality.” 53 P.S. § 10603(a). Setbacks are a traditional mechanism by which local authorities seek to fulfill these responsibilities. In the absence of explicit language barring local zoning authorities from establishing reasonable setbacks to address local conditions and needs, we cannot conclude that the balance struck by the General Assembly in the Surface Mining Act was intended to remove this traditional and historical prerogative of local zoning authorities, as it applies to the location and siting of surface mining. The statutory policy of providing needed coal while balancing that need with the protection of the environment and agriculture does not require elimination of all local input as to the siting of surface mining within the municipality based on reasonable assessment of local conditions. Thus, we do not interpret the Surface Mining Act, via its policy, purpose, objective or other provisions, to have removed all force from general zoning considerations as they apply to local siting of surface mining. Rather, the policies of the Surface Mining Act can rest alongside zoning ordinances that, upon taking into consideration the special nature of the municipality, require surface mining operations to observe a reasonable residential setback.

Id. at 605 (citation omitted). As in Hoffman, Harrisburg's gun ban in parks and playgrounds relates to local matters on city-owned land.

Further, the Hoffman Court noted that an ordinance stricter than a statute is not irreconcilable with that statute:

[T]he relevant statutory text states only that no surface mining operation shall be permitted within 300 feet of an occupied dwelling; the statutory text does not expressly provide that surface mining is permissible beyond 300 feet of an occupied dwelling in all cases, regardless of any reasonable local zoning ordinance responsive to local conditions... Accordingly, any conflict here between the two enactments is not irreconcilable because it is not impossible to comply with both of them, and an actor is not placed in a position of having to decide which enactment to follow.

Id. at 600-01, 603 (emphasis by Court).

Under Hoffman, none of the gun ordinances conflict with the UFA counterparts even if the ordinances go further. Plaintiffs can abide by both the statutory restrictions and the ordinances. See also id. at 610 (C.J. Castille concurring, joined by J. Todd and J. Orie Melvin) (“Appellant can comply with both the statewide (300 feet) and the local (1,000 feet) setbacks, at the same time, by mining outside a 1,000-foot perimeter around any occupied dwellings.”) (citing Mazzo v. Bd. of Pensions & Retirement, 611 A.2d 193 (Pa. 1992) (irreconcilable conflict where local ordinance prohibited reinstatement of city employee on terms mandated by controlling state enactment)).

Ultimately, the Court recognized that the General Assembly can easily make its intent clear if it wants to ban regulation of the where as well as the how. Id. at 605-06 (“Had the General Assembly intended to assume total responsibility and authority over local land use management and planning as they apply to surface mining, the wording of the Surface Mining Act would surely have reflected such an intent.”). Here, the General Assembly certainly did not clearly express an intent to prohibit park and playground regulations, discharge, or regulations of unlawful use. See DGS v. Ogontz Area Neighbors Ass'n, 483 A.2d 448, 452-53 (Pa. 1984) (“Since the subject matter of § 14762, by its terms, is setback, height and similar restrictions, not use restrictions, we decline to extend its application to use restrictions...”) (emphasis by Court).

Amici also focus on the prefatory “to the extent permitted” clause in the third class city code provision that authorizes Harrisburg to prevent discharge and concealed carry. See 53 Pa.C.S. §37423. Amici argue that the General Assembly, by including the “to the extent permitted” clause, showed a desire to ban regulation of discharge and concealed carry. Amici’s argument is hard to follow because their reading would render the enabling provision—expressly allowing regulation of discharge and concealed carry—a dead letter. The General Assembly had a clear and easy way to eliminate Harrisburg’s authority: it could have simply removed the language allowing regulation of discharge and concealed carry. The fact that it did not speaks volumes; to the contrary, the language “to the extent permitted” implies the opposite of what amici claim: that some firearm regulation is permitted.

Moreover, the Hoffman Court rejected amici's position, holding that a to-the-extent-not-preempted clause does not negate municipal power:

We are aware that the MPC explicitly provides that zoning ordinances may regulate specific, enumerated uses of land, water, and structures “except to the extent that those regulations of mineral extraction by local ordinances and enactments have heretofore been superseded and preempted by the [Surface Mining Act, the Noncoal Act, or several other listed statutes.]” 53 P.S. § 10603(b). This provision does not provide any additional guidance as to precisely what specific regulations are preempted. Rather, it merely reiterates that to the extent the Surface Mining Act, or other statute, preempts a local regulation of mineral extraction, that local regulation is invalid, the MPC grant of authority notwithstanding.

Hoffman Min., 32 A.3d at n.19 (emphasis by Court). In other words, a to-the-extent-not-preempted clause does not shed any light on whether the ordinance is, in fact, preempted. In addition, in this case, the General Assembly re-enacted the authority to ban discharge and concealed carry in 2014, evidencing an intent to permit such ordinances.

More on point than Huntley and Hoffman, this Court has reached a similar conclusion in a much closer context: hunting on public lands. In Duff v. Northampton Twp., 532 A.2d 500 (1987) aff'd, 550 A.2d 1319

(1988), this Court held that a municipality-wide hunting restriction was preempted. However, in Wolfe v. Twp. of Salisbury, 880 A.2d 62 (Pa. Commw. 2005), this Court distinguished Duff to hold that a municipality can restrict or permit hunting on its own property—a right held by any property owner:

Because we determine that the Township was not acting as a municipality, but rather as a property owner when it enacted the Ordinance, we disagree with Residents that the preemption test set forth in Duff applies here.

Residents, while relying heavily on this Court's reasoning in Duff, ignore an important distinction between that case and the one before us. In Duff, a township enacted an ordinance regulating hunting throughout the township inconsistently with the Game Law, based on its police powers—that is, as a governmental entity. Here, however, the Township enacted the Ordinance, in compliance with the Game Law, based on its rights as a property owner of the two parks.

Id. at 68 (emphasis by this Court).

This Court emphasized that elected officials properly determine permissible activity on public property. See id. at 69 (“Residents assert that hunting should not be allowed in public parks; however, this is an issue for their elected officials to decide.”). This Court concluded:

Preemption is applicable where a township has acted to regulate hunting as a township; that is, throughout the municipality. This Ordinance, however, is applicable only to the properties owned by the Township itself. The Township has exercised its authority, as any other property owner may, to “regulate” hunting on its property, consistent with the Game Law. There is no authority to suggest that municipalities that own property are treated differently than individuals under the Game Law with respect to property ownership rights.

Id.

The Duff Wolfe distinction applies equally here to Harrisburg’s century old gun ban for its parks and playgrounds. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has long emphasized the wide scope of a municipality’s authority to act as property owner:

[T]he Legislature's control of the property of a municipality acquired in its proprietary or private character is another question. These powers, in their nature unlimited, are not conferred primarily or chiefly from considerations connected with the government of the state at large, nor of the municipality, but for the private advantage, comfort, and convenience of the compact community which is incorporated as a distinct legal personality or corporate individual.

Shirk v. City of Lancaster, 169 A. 557, 559-60 (Pa. 1933) (emphasis by Court) (citing Dillon, Municipal Corporations (5th Ed.) volume 1, § 109, p. 182; McQuillin on Municipal Corporations (2d Ed.) volume 1, §§ 238, 239).

Harrisburg, like any property owner, can decide what takes place on its land. Does a playground have to allow guns simply because it's publicly owned? Plaintiffs' logic would apply to any locally owned zoo, library, nursing home, hospital, airport, public pool, daycare, ball park, museum, police department, etc. Cannot a city council choose to restrict guns at its sessions as the General Assembly has? In the view of Plaintiffs and amici, county courts, district attorney offices, and parole departments had to allow guns until 1995 when the General Assembly banned guns in courthouses. 18 Pa.C.S. §913.¹⁶

Nonetheless, there is still no statewide ban for city buildings or any other property such as parks and playgrounds. Accordingly, county commissioners who meet in administrative buildings other than courthouses must permit guns at their meetings under the view of Plaintiffs and amici. Likewise, a person carrying a gun could attend a heated city council debate while they would be prohibited from doing so at a heated General Assembly debate. The General Assembly never intended such an absurd result.

¹⁶ And, according to amici, judges, sheriffs, and commissioners that banned guns committed crimes. See discussion in footnote 16, above. In fact, amici believe that judges, sheriffs, and commissioners who ban guns now—and schools for that matter—commit crimes because (according to Plaintiffs and amici) the UFA even preempts regulation of otherwise unlawful conduct.

Harrisburg's proprietary authority like a property owner is like its authority as an employer. Harrisburg can certainly tell employees not to carry or discharge guns on the job. So too can Harrisburg ban guns use and possession on its land just like any other property owner.

Analogies to other areas of preemption confirm Harrisburg's authority over its property. Alcohol, mining, and banking are all preempted fields; but must a municipality permit all three on its own land? Surely, Harrisburg can prohibit drinking at council meetings and mining in Italian Lake. Likewise, Harrisburg can tell its police officers not to drink, mine, and bank while on the clock.

Harrisburg should not be the only property owner within its city limits that must permit guns on its land over objection. And its objection to park and playgrounds is well founded. Harrisburg wisely avoids the pandemonium that would result if it allowed the open carrying of pistols and shotguns at playgrounds and the Fourth of July celebration. No doubt the General Assembly shares these concerns as it bans guns on capitol grounds.

III. Decisions from other jurisdictions re-inforce Harrisburg's position:

A review of decisions by other jurisdictions reveals that the logic of Huntley, Hoffman, and Wolfe applies with full force to gun regulations on public property. Multiple states have recognized that similar and even broader preemption language did not preempt regulation of guns on public property. See Calguns Found. v. Cnty. of San Mateo, 218 Cal. App. 4th 661, 676-77, review denied (Cal. 2013) (park gun ban not barred by preemption and concealed carry laws, in part because, it is a “very narrow” “land use regulation” that “pertains only to specific areas within the county, and areas patently subject to the governance of the County Board of Supervisors, i.e., its parks and recreation areas.”) (citing Nordyke v. King, 44 P.3d 133, 138 (Cal. 2002), and Great W. Shows v. Cnty. of L.A., 44 P.3d 120, 127-28 (Cal. 2002) (holding that county can ban guns on its property)); Hunters, Anglers & Trappers v. Winooski Valley Park, 913 A.2d 391, 398, 400 (Vt. 2006) (“It is consistent for the Legislature to prohibit direct regulation of hunting..., but also entitle municipalities to manage their own lands in the interests of recreation and conservation.... [T]he District was within its rights to place conditions on the use of its lands, which the Legislature has explicitly authorized the District to manage in the interest of conservation, among other interests.”); McMann v. City of Tucson, 47

P.3d 672, 677 (Ariz. App.), review denied (Ariz. 2002) (“[T]he legislature's primary concern, according to the only legislative history of which we are aware, was to ensure that conduct legal in one municipality is not illegal in another and that citizens have access to firearms for protection, not to prevent cities from determining how to use their commercial property.”); see also id. at 678 (distinguishing Schneck and other case because the “cases involved ordinances regulating firearms throughout the respective local jurisdictions.”); Kaluszka v. Town of E. Hartford, 760 A.2d 1282, 1286 n. 1 (Conn. Super. 1999) aff'd, 760 A.2d 1269 (Conn. App. 2000) (“Of course, the town, as owner, could restrict hunting on municipally owned property.”); City of Tucson v. Rineer, 971 P.2d 207, 211 (Ariz. App. 1998), review denied (Ariz. 1999) (park gun ban “govern[s] conduct only within the city's parks and prohibits firearms solely within those boundaries, a legitimate and narrow local concern.”).

The seminal case is Great Western Shows. The Court emphasized the county's right to regulate its own property:

[T]he Ordinance does not propose a complete ban on gun shows within the County, but only disallows gun show sales on County property. ... Government Code section 23004, subdivision (d), gives a county the authority to “[m]anage, sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of its property as the interests of its inhabitants require.” (See also Gov.Code, §§ 25900 25908 [giving counties authority over the use of their fairgrounds].) To “manage” property must necessarily include the fundamental decision as to how the property will be used. ... But it cannot be doubted that the County has the continuing authority... to make decisions about how its property will be used.... None of the gun show statutes reviewed above impliedly seek to override the discretion a county retains in the use of its property. ...

In short, there is no merit to the argument that the Ordinance was an illegitimate exercise of the County's power to make fundamental management decisions about how its property would be used.

Thus, a county has broad latitude under Government Code section 23004, subdivision (d), to use its property, consistent with its contractual obligations, “as the interests of its inhabitants require.” Aside from First Amendment public forum considerations or special statutory requirements not before us, the County is not compelled to grant access to its property to all comers. Nor do the gun show statutes mandate that counties use their property for such shows. If the County does allow such shows, it may impose more stringent restrictions on the sale of firearms than state law prescribes.

44 P.3d at 129-31.

Likewise, in Peter Garrett Gunsmith v. City of Dayton, 98 S.W.3d 517, 520-21 (Ky. App. 2002), review denied (Ky. 2003), the Court found that a municipality could still regulate location even if not gun activity:

If the legislature had intended to prohibit all regulation affecting firearms and firearms dealers, including zoning regulations that affect location, it could have easily done so. It could have included location within the list of prohibited fields of regulation. Yet, Garrett suggests a reading of the statute that would extend its reach beyond its stated language and necessarily require the court to read into it language that was not chosen by the legislature. Such a reading would contravene the clear intent of the statute and, in effect, eviscerate a city's power to determine where gun shops best fit within its zoning scheme. Without the power to control the location of gun shops and firearm dealers, a city could find itself at the mercy of the firearms businesses that could begin operating wherever they choose, for example, in the heart of a community surrounded by single-family homes.

Id. at 520-21.

As in those cases, Harrisburg's gun ban in parks in playgrounds affects location. More importantly, the General Assembly did not express a clear desire to end Harrisburg's control over its property. Notably, the General Assembly itself bans guns on capitol grounds. As such, it is not likely that the General Assembly wanted the absurd result of forcing municipalities to allow guns at their sessions while banning guns at its own.

Like Hoffman, other jurisdictions have likewise recognized that local regulations can be consistent with statutory counterparts even if more extensive. The Great Western Shows Court explained:

[T]he Ordinance does not criminalize precisely the same acts which are prohibited by statute and is therefore not duplicative. Put another way, possessing a gun on county property is not identical to the crime of selling an illegal assault weapon or handgun, nor is it a lesser included offense, and therefore someone may be lawfully convicted of both offenses.

Nor is there a direct conflict between the statute and the Ordinance. The Ordinance does not mandate what state law expressly forbids, nor does it forbid what state law expressly mandates. Although the gun show statutes regulate, among other things, the sale of guns at gun shows, and therefore contemplate such sales, the statutes do not mandate such sales, such that a limitation of sales on county property would be in direct conflict with the statutes.

44 P.3d at 127-28 (citations omitted). See also State v. Phillips, 63 A.3d 51, 75 (Md. App. 2013).

Finally, the Court in Dykstra v. City of Hammond, 985 N.E.2d 1105 (Ind. App.) review denied, (Ind. 2013), recognized that preemption statutes do not necessarily create a duty to repeal. See id. at 1108 (“[T]he Firearm Owners have not designated any evidence that indicates that the legislature intended that this statute have any retrospective effect. We therefore find that the statute was meant to prevent the adoption of future ordinances that may conflict with state law and to prevent the future enforcement of statutes that were in place at the time Indiana Code section 35–47–11.1–2 was adopted.”).

Plaintiffs and amici do not show that municipalities must repeal ordinances that pre-date the UFA, like Harrisburg’s 1821 discharge ban, 1905 park ban, 1951 gun ban for unsupervised minors, and 1969 emergency ordinance. The only ordinance enacted since the UFA is the reporting ordinance that cannot restrict Plaintiffs in any way. See Phillips, 63 A.3d at 75 (“Appellee does not contend, nor could he, that the Act is expressly preempted or preempted by conflict. ...[T]he Act does not regulate the possession or sale of a firearm. Rather, it requires gun offenders convicted in Baltimore City to register with the Police Commissioner. The Act does not conflict with any State law.”).

For these reasons, this Court should reverse the trial court and remand with direction to dissolve the injunction.

To the end the provisions already made by our laws, for preventing accidents which may happen by fire in the city of Philadelphia, and several other boroughs and towns, within this province, may be made more generally useful, and to prevent, as much as in us lies, the growing sins of idleness, drunkenness, and other debaucheries, too frequent among us, Be it enacted, that if any person or persons whatsoever, within any county town, or within any other town or borough, in this province, already built and settled, or hereafter to be built and settled, not hitherto restricted nor provided for by our laws, shall set on fire their chimnies to cleanse them, or shall suffer them or any of them to take fire, and blaze out at the top, or shall fire² any gun or other fire-arm, or shall make, or cause to be made, or sell or utter, or offer to expose to sale, any squibs, rockets or other fire-works, or shall cast, throw or fire any squibs, rockets or other fire-works, within any of the said towns or boroughs, without the governor's special license for the same, every such person, or persons, so offending, shall be subject to the like penalties and forfeitures, and to be recovered in like manner, as in and by an act, passed second and every other offence, the sum of five pounds.

 against this act, shall be paid, one half to the overseers of the poor, for the use of the poor of the township within which such offence may be committed, and the other half to the use of him or them, who shall inform or sue for the same, before any justice of the peace of this province, who is hereby empowered and authorized to hear and determine the same, and to convict the offender or offenders, either on his own view, or by the legal testimony of one or more witnesses; saving to every such offender or offenders the right of appeal in like manner as is provided in and by an act, entitled, "An act for the more

AN ACT FOR REGULATING ATTACHMENTS NOT EXCEEDING FIVE POUNDS.¹ 22 Aug.

I. [Relating to the absconding, &c., of the debtor, and of the oath, is Attachment omitted, as supplied according to Jewell v. Howe, 3 Watts, 144, by the 4 before Justices. December, 1807.]

II. As the act of 1836 provides only for attachments by writ, and as the 4 Dec. 1807, § 15, extending the jurisdiction of justices is ambiguous, this act has been retained when not supplied by the latter.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber,
Harrisburg, June 2, 1915.

I file herewith, in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, with my objection, House bill No. 406, entitled "An act to clarify the statute law of the Commonwealth, by repealing certain acts and parts of acts of Assembly which are obsolete, expired, supplied, superseded, repealed by implication, or declared unconstitutional."

This bill is an omnibus repealer. It aims to repeal 852 obsolete, expired, supplied or superseded laws. To remove from our statute books this mass of useless legal stuff is wholly commendable. It is to be regretted that it cannot be done in the manner indicated. But the title does not recite the acts repealed, nor does it confine itself to a single subject. The Constitution requires both these to be done.

Moreover, it proposes to repeal quite a few laws that are declared by department heads to be essential to proper administration. In other words, some of these acts are not obsolete. They are vital. At the next session, with more care and study, and fuller conference as to the uselessness of laws that may be repealed, it is hoped that the really desirable end contemplated may be accomplished.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

LAW

INCORPORATING THE

Borough of Harrisburg.

AN ACT

To alter an act entitled "An act to erect the town of Harrisburg, in the county of Dauphin into a borough."

WHEREAS, by the sixth section of an act of the general assembly of this commonwealth, passed on the thirteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one, entitled "An act to erect the town of Harrisburg, in the county of Dauphin, into a borough," it is enacted, "That the burgesses and freeholders, inhabitants of Harrisburg, respectively, forever shall enjoy all the powers, jurisdictions, exclusions, authorities and privileges, and be subject to the same qualifications, restrictions, penalties, fines and forfeitures, within the said borough, as are enjoyed by, and limited to the burgesses and inhabitants of the borough of Reading, in the county of Berks." And whereas, it appears by petition of the inhabitants of the said borough of Harrisburg, that experience has fully proven, that owing to a difference in the local situation of the two places, and various other causes, the act of assembly for erecting the town of Reading into a borough, however applicable to the purpose for which it was originally intended by the legislature, is not well calculated for the good government of the borough of Harrisburg: Therefore,

Sect. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in general assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the said town of Harrisburg shall still continue and forever remain a borough, under the name and title of "The borough of Harrisburg," its. Perpetuated according to former lim.

And also shall at the same time and place, elect four suitable persons for constables, and return the said persons so elected for constables to the next court of quarter sessions of the county of Dauphin, and the said court shall appoint two of them to be constables of the said borough, for one year, from and after the time of their appointment, but previous to the opening of said election, such of the inhabitants as are present at the court-house, shall elect three reputable citizens as judges, one as inspector and two as clerks of the said election, which shall be regulated and conducted throughout according to the general election law of this commonwealth, and who shall be subject to the same penalties, for mal-practices, as by the said law is imposed; and the said judges inspectors and clerks, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, shall take an oath or affirmation before any justice of the peace of said county, to perform the same with fidelity, and after said elec-

And it shall be the duty of the high constable for the preceding year to give notice in writing, to each of the persons so elected as aforesaid, and in case of the death, resignation, removal or refusal to accept, of any of the said offices, the chief burgess, or in his absence or inability to act, the assistant burgess, shall issue his precept, directed to the high constable, to hold an election in manner aforesaid, to supply such vacancy, giving at least eight days notice of such election, by six advertisements set up in the most public places in the said borough.

of, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500), or undergo imprisonment not exceeding one (1) year, or both.

The jury trying the case may infer such intent from the fact the defendant carried such weapon. 1939, June 24, P.L. 872, § 416; 1956, April 4, P.L. (1955) 1383, § 1.

Historical Note

The act of 1956 substituted the first part of this section, to and including "otherwise", for "Whoever carries any firearm, slungshot, handy-billy, dirk-knife, razor or any other deadly weapon, concealed upon his person." The act of 1956 also, following "imprisonment", deleted "by separate or solitary confinement".

Penal Code 1939:

Act 1875, March 18, P.L. 33, § 1, contained similar provisions and provided that jury could "infer such intent as aforesaid, from the fact of the said defendant carrying such weapons in the manner as aforesaid."

Prior local provisions were contained in act of 1864, May 5, P.L. 823, act of 1850, May 23, P.L. 666, § 22, and act of 1873, April 10, P.L. 656, § 1.

cerning the right of citizens to bear arms. Wright v. Com., 77 Pa. 470, 1875.

By the act of 1850, May 3, P.L. 670, § 22 (local), establishing a police force for the city and incorporated districts of the county of Philadelphia, in case of a riot, "any person arrested upon whose person or in whose possession shall be found fire-arms or any other deadly weapon, shall be deemed guilty of an intention to riot, whether said fire-arms or deadly weapon shall be used or not, unless the contrary can be satisfactorily established, and punished accordingly." rebut the unlawful intent raised by the statutory provision. Com. v. McNulty, 8 Phila. 610, 28 L.I. 398, 1871.

2. Construction and application

Provision that jury may infer intent to injure another from fact of carrying weapon, means only that, while commonwealth bears burden of convincing jury beyond reasonable doubt of an intent to do injury, once evidence is introduced that dangerous and deadly weapon was concealed, then case must go to jury, and verdict of jury will not be disturbed. Com. v. Festa, 40 A.2d 112, 156 Pa.Super. 329, 1945.

This section does not forbid the innocent carrying of any object, whether used solely for attack or defense, like a firearm, or possessing some legitimate function beyond a utility to wound or maim, but prohibits the concealed carrying of any article intended to be used unlawfully. Id.

Everyday meaning must be attached to phrase "upon the person". Com. v. Lanzetti, 97 Pa.Super. 126, 1929.

Carrying concealed weapons "upon his person" means article in contact with person or carried in clothing, word "upon" signifying close contact. Id.

A conviction of carrying a concealed deadly weapon was upheld where a constable entered defendant's home, awakened and arrested him on another charge, took him before a justice of the peace and later transported him to the county prison where he was searched and a set of aluminum knucklers found in his pocket. Com. v. Billett, 24 D. & C.2d 659, 57 Lanc.Rev. 431, 1962.

Where overcoat, in pocket of which there was loaded revolver, was carried over arm, there was a carrying of concealed deadly weapons within meaning of this statute. Com. v. Reynolds, 4 D. & C. 262, 1923.

A verdict of guilty of carrying a concealed weapon under this statute would be set aside and a new trial granted where it was shown that the weapon was unloaded and defendant had no cartridges about him. Com. v. Sweltzer, 21 Dist. 807, 25 York 202, 4 Berks 249, 1912.

A person may not be convicted of the crimes of armed robbery or carrying concealed weapons, both of which include specific intent as an essential element, where the person is incapable of entertaining that intent, even though that incapacity resulted from voluntary intoxication. Com. v. Hart, 101 P.L.J. 449, 1954.

3. Repeal

Local act 1873, April 12, P.L. 735, making it misdemeanor to carry pistol or other deadly weapon within city limits of Harrisburg was not repealed by act 1875, March 18, P.L. 33, § 1. Com. v. Kreps, 25 Dauph. 335, 1922.

4. Merger of offenses

The alleged crimes of possessing burglar tools with intent to use same feloniously and of carrying concealed deadly weapons did not merge with third alleged crime of aggravated assault and battery and shooting at a person with intent to murder. Com. ex rel. Rodzwell v. Ashe, 27 A.2d 253, 149 Pa.Super. 307, 1942.

5. Indictment

Omission of averment that weapon was concealed on relator's person from indictment for carrying concealed weapon was merely formal defect, not properly reviewable in habeas corpus proceeding for defendant's release from detention in state penitentiary under sentence on conviction of such crime. Com. ex rel. Sawchak v. Ashe, 83 A.2d 497, 169 Pa.Super. 529, 1951, certiorari denied 72 S.Ct. 1080, 343 U.S. 980, 96 L.Ed. 1371.

Indictment against foreigner for carrying concealed deadly weapons under act 1875, March 18, P.L. 33, could not be based on complaint under act of 1909, May 8, P.L. 466. Com. v. Rinaldi, 39 Lanc. 112, 2 Som. 252, 5 D. & C. 331, 72 Pitts. 1081, 1924.

6. Evidence

Evidence established beyond a reasonable doubt defendant's guilt of offenses of (1) shooting with intent to murder, (2) committing crime of violence while armed, and (3) carrying concealed weapon. Com. v. Harris, 169 A.2d 576, 194 Pa.Super. 600, 1961.

Evidence was insufficient to support conviction for carrying concealed weapons on person. Com. v. Lanzetti, 97 Pa.Super. 126, 1929.

Where the defendant was indicted under the provisions of this section, for carrying a concealed deadly weapon, and the commonwealth proved that the deadly weapon was carried concealed, a prima facie case was made out, and the matter should have gone to the jury, and a verdict of guilty would be sustained. Com. v. Joseph Bruno, 82 Pa.Super. 338, 1923.

7. Instructions

An instruction, which correctly stated law as to carrying concealed deadly weapon except for statement that where person has such weapon in his possession the intent to injure another will be presumed, did not require reversal because of use of word "presumed" on theory that thereby burden of disproving intent was erroneously shifted to accused, where such mistake was called to trial court's attention and corrected. Com. v. Festa, 40 A.2d 112, 156 Pa.Super. 329, 1945.

8. Jury questions

In prosecution against brewery salesman for carrying a concealed deadly weapon, a large knife of type used to cut linoleum, evidence was sufficient for jury where no explanation was given for carrying such knife. Com. v. Festa, 40 A.2d 112, 156 Pa.Super. 329, 1945.

9. Sentence and punishment

Under this section and section 4628 of this title relating to firearms in motor vehicle, definite sentence of two years in state penitentiary upon conviction for both offenses was erroneous. Com. ex rel. Monaghan v. Burke, 82 A.2d 337, 169 Pa.Super. 256, 1951, certiorari denied 72 S.Ct. 233, 342 U.S. 898, 96 L.Ed. 673.

§ 4417. Carrying bombs and explosives

Whoever possesses or carries on or about his person or in a vehicle, with the intent to use the same unlawfully against the person or property of another, any bomb, bombshell, or other explosive substance, except fixed ammunition, or any noxious liquid gas or substance, is guilty of a felony, and on conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000), or undergo imprisonment, by separate or solitary confinement at labor, for a term of not more than ten (10) years, or both. 1939, June 24, P.L. 872, § 417.

Historical NoteSource Notes by Drafting Committee:

1929, April 25, P.L. 778, § 1 (18 P.S. § 1331).

Penal Code 1939:

Act 1929, April 25, P.L. 778, § 1, read as follows: "On or after the date upon which this act takes effect, any person, except a duly appointed or elected law enforcement officer, or a member of the army, navy, or marine corps of the United States, or of the National Guard, or organized reserves, who possesses or carries on or about his person or in a vehicle, a bomb, bombshell, except for blasting or other commercial use, or who, with the intent to use the same unlawfully against the person or property of another, possesses or carries any explosive substance, or any noxious liquid gas or substance, except fixed ammunition, shall be guilty of a felony, and, on conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and to undergo imprisonment by separate or solitary confinement at labor for a term of not less than two years nor more than ten years."
